From the Driver's Seat
David Thomas, President

Happy August to all our members, especially now that, as I write this, the afternoon temperature in Brentwood is only 77 degrees, which is exactly the temperature in southern Michigan! I am sure everyone is enjoying this while it lasts.

First, some exciting news: our At-Large board member and club leader Norm Follis offered to spearhead an effort to recruit a future Porsche Parade to Nashville! This was approved at the last board meeting. We are also truly fortunate to have founding member and past president Mike Gillespie as a key part of this effort, as Mike is very well connected in the Nashville hospitality industry. Our Musik-Stadt Parade Committee is in contact with the PCA Parade Selection Committee, to secure Nashville's approval as a future Parade site selection. We will certainly keep all members posted on any developments.

On July 22nd members of your board gathered at One Eleven Motorcars to present President Jeremy Scates with a plaque expressing the club's deep appreciation to Jeremy for his very generous and valuable support of our club. Concours and Drives chair Mike Moody, who proposed and facilitated the creation of this award, made the presentation

Finally, here is a (hopefully!) interesting current event in the wide world of Porsche:

According to topspeed.com, a pristine, 2024 911 S/T with 23 miles on it and “absolutely every box ticked” including Paint-to-Sample and Heritage Design interior recently sold for $805,992, which is more than twice its retail price, and not that far from the original price of a 918 Spyder! I’m guessing the car will not be driven much, if at all. And I hope I’m wrong!

Drive safely!

Happy August! Writing this poolside while enjoying choice waves and sizzling rays. The last few weeks have seen a short break in the temperatures. And, other than a few pop-up showers here and there, excellent weather for motoring with the top down. Going to and from our August Membership meeting to German Cars & Coffee practically next door then to an artillery demonstration at Stones River Battle Field in Murfreesboro, all with the top down, made the top of my head just a little more red than what it should be! By the time I got to Arrington Vineyards, I made sure I had grabbed a hat.

I want to call out that we have some cool events coming up! Mike Gillesepie has a German Cars & Coffee at the Bavarian Bierhaus at the end of September. Mike Moody has some great drives lined up for us, including a Saturday drive to Beechcraft Heritage Museum. And our annual Oktoberfest, this time at 111 Motorcars comes up on September 27th.

We have a special guest columnist this month, James B. Beavans III, with his excellent write-up on his Blue Ridge Boxster Summit. Be sure to check out that excellent article! And, if you want to tell us about a drive, a party, or any other experience you've had with your P-car, write it up and send it to me! I'll be sure to get it in a future newsletter!

Well, that's all from here! Enjoy this wonderful weather while it lasts!

The Blue Ridge Boxster Summit

A Celebration of Driving Passion in the Heart of the Appalachians

Nestled among the rolling peaks and misty valleys of the Blue Ridge Mountains lies an annual event that has become a cherished tradition for Porsche enthusiasts: the Blue Ridge Boxster Summit. Each year, this gathering draws together a diverse community of drivers, all united by their love for the mid-engine marvel that is the Porsche Boxster. But the Summit is far more than a simple car meet—it is an immersive experience that blends scenic motoring, camaraderie, and the spirit of exploration, set against one of America's most picturesque backdrops.

Group Drives and Scenic Routes, Scenic Stops and Photo Opportunities

At the core of BRBS are the daily group drive spirited journeys that wind through the mountains, with participants often divided into groups based on driving style or desired pace. Whether cruising leisurely, soaking in the scenery or taking a brisker approach to exploit the Boxster's handling prowess, each route is chosen for its driving pleasure and visual splendor.

The Blue Ridge Mountains are replete with postcard-worthy photo stops. BRBS drives often include pauses at overlooks where attendees can line up their cars against panoramic vistas for memorable group shots. Waterfalls, wildflower fields, and historic sites punctuate the routes, ensuring that even the most seasoned participants discover something new each year.

Blue Ridge Mountains, Social Gatherings and Community

The Blue Ridge Mountains, a segment of the larger Appalachian range, are famed for their bluish haze and dramatic vistas. Spanning several states, the range is particularly beloved for its scenic highways—the Blue Ridge Parkway is chief among them—which snake through verdant forests, past cascading waterfalls, and over ridgelines that offer panoramic views stretching for miles. The region's roads are a driver's paradise, with sweeping curves, elevation changes, and breathtaking overlooks.

Beyond daily drives, the BRBS is a celebration of the friendships

and shared passions that bring the Porsche community together. Evenings often feature group dinners at local restaurants, where stories of the day's adventures are exchanged over hearty meals. Attendees stay at the same mountain lodge, furthering the sense of camaraderie.

Why the Summit Matters, Memorable Moments and Lasting Impact

The Blue Ridge Boxster Summit is more than a scheduled gathering—it is a living tradition that thrives on the enthusiasm and generosity of its community. For many, it is a highlight of the year, a chance to reconnect with friends and the pure joy of driving. For newcomers, it is an open door into a welcoming world where the only prerequisites are curiosity and a love of the open road.

Over the years, the Blue Ridge Boxster Summit has been home to countless memorable moments: sunrise drives through mist-laden valleys, impromptu tech sessions in parking lots, and evenings spent under a canopy of stars, sharing laughter and stories. Friendships forged during the Summit often endure long after the last engine has cooled down.

2025 is the 23rd iteration of the BRBS, which began 27 years ago and lost 4 years of events due to Covid and leadership transition. The event has been held for a few years now at the Little Switzerland Inn in North Carolina right beside the Blue Ridge Parkway and surrounded by many tall mountains by East Coast standards.

This year the event officially began Thursday and ran through Sunday morning check-out with a roster of 42 cars of which 19 were not Boxster's. Below is my account of the event day by day.

The Drive & Arrival

Checking the weather forecast leading up to the event was very discouraging as I communicated with Chuck Visconage the only other PCA Chesapeake Region member on this year's roster. Chuck was scheduled to drive down on Thursday with his brother Mike who was flying in that morning from San Antonio. With my 2013 Boxster S packed, my wife Anna and I left on Wednesday morning and were greeted with constant moderate rainfall from Laurel, Maryland all the way past Richmond, Virginia, which on highways with 18-wheelers beside you wasn't pleasant driving even in the day. Luckily not long after getting on I-85 heading Southwest of Richmond the weather improved, and we arrived in Little Switzerland right around 6pm to a clear view of the mountains. About 30-minutes after checking in I thought I saw smoke, but it turned out to be a heavy fog that engulfed the area...hence the name Smokey Mountains. That night we dined on one of the best pork chops we'd ever had followed by a delicious slice of 6-layer carrot cake at the Chalet Restaurant. Many BRBS guests arrived, and the goody bags were ready to pick up, which included an event thermos water bottle, t-shirt, lunch bag and some snacks.

Charlotte Speedway & Hendricks Heritage Museum

Thursday's bonus day activities included lunch at Charlotte Motor Speedway followed by a visit to Hendrick's Motorsports just a few miles away. The temperature in Charlotte proved a surprise to most of us who were dressed for Mountain weather and not a day approaching 90 degrees. The buffet lunch at the Speedway Club 6th Floor provided a great view of the track, which unfortunately was not in use that day. After lunch we went to Hendricks gift shop which is full of Nascar winning cars and memorabilia. The real treat though was that Hagerty helped us gain a private tour of Rick Hendricks private museum, sadly no photos were allowed. The museum contained over 100 Corvettes and 100 other makes including a section of Porsche's (959, GT3RS, Carrera GT, 918 Spyder, 718 Spyder RS, 718 GT4RS). The museum had themed areas based on Rick's life from a Chevy dealership, drive-in theater, ice cream shop, filling station etc. Upstairs was a large man cave full of over 100 signed guitars plus various other signed sports and music memorabilia. In the museum parking lot, one of our group members 2001 Boxster S in Lapis Blue from New York City had the misfortune of a clutch issue, which required a tow and a week's wait for parts. It was about a 2-hour drive back from Charlotte to the lodge in the heat and heavy traffic. That evening we enjoyed an open bar cocktail hour on the terrace before a delicious taco style buffet dinner and chocolate cake.

Hendricks Trophy Room

Roan Mountain to Grandfather Mountain and more car trouble's

Friday morning Chuck noticed his driver's rear tire was flat on his 2013 Boxster S, he had a patch/plug kit but no jack or wrench. Fortunately, he was eventually able to find the tools he needed and join the tours after the Hagerty Insurance valuation discussion. We had decided to drive with Steve & Suzanne Gross from Michigan who led us up Roan Mountain in their 2001 Lapis Blue Boxster S, yes there were 2 of the same cars at BRBS. The drive up and down Roan Mountain was a wonderful experience which we would repeat later. The forecast for Friday was the worst of the week and that came to fruition on our way to Grandfather Mountain. Grandfather Mountain reminded us a bit of Mount Washington as the climate changed as we headed near its 5900-foot peak. First, we stopped at the guest center and wildlife habitat where the highlight was the black bears and river otters, the Cougar siblings were resting in their den. Our Patter editor Bogdan Chitimus had previously told us how spectacular Grandfather is, but due to the deteriorating weather we were forced back down the mountain after walking across the swinging bridge at the 5300 ft elevation point.

From Grandfather Mountain we drove to Happy Valley Filling Station for some great handcrafted pizza in the New Haven style. In between Steve's car developed an electrical issue, so he replaced his 7-year-old battery with a new one but an hour later he had to jump his car to make it back to the lodge. His alternator had failed in addition to the battery aging out and the new battery wasn't fully charged from the shop. Steve was working on the battery that night when he sliced his hand, luckily the ER was only 15 minutes away, so I drove him there to get stitched up. Steve charged both batteries overnight and took the car the next day to the Porsche dealer who confirmed the bad alternator as well pointing out a nail in his tire. The dealer couldn't get parts so I advised him his best option would be to tow the car home, which unfortunately led to him renting a car trailer from one location and a 26-foot U-Haul moving truck from another. He got home without further incident and told me afterwards it was a very bouncy 13-hour drive, but at least the parts he ordered were waiting for him at home.

After Friday evenings cocktail hour, dinner at the Chalet Restaurant was a fantastic BBQ buffet with a nice selection of Key Lime Pie and Cheesecake for dessert. We then moved to the Fowl Play Pub to enjoy company with our new friends from BRBS, but an hour later Steve's wife Suzanne came in looking for a volunteer to take him to the hospital for the above-mentioned incident and I volunteered myself.

Mast Store, Beech Ski Lodge and Perry's Berry's

Saturday, we joined BRBS planner Scott, his wife and another 2 cars on a drive to the Old Mast General Store, which ended up being two different store stops not far from each other and a small group of teenage boys followed us on their bikes to take photos at each stop.

For lunch Scott took us up the mountain to Beech Mountain Ski Lodge where the service was a bit slow, but the food was good. Anna wanted to visit Perry's Berry's Vineyard & Winery, so we had to move/drive quickly to get there before they closed. The route there was a fantastic mix of backroads with light traffic, where we hooked up with an Adventure Biker who helped us make great time carving our way towards our destination. After enjoying some various wine samplers, we hit the road for another hour plus drive back to Little Switzerland on the wonderful roads.

Saturday evening, we again enjoyed cocktail hour followed by a tasty steak night buffet and desserts before heading to the Fowl Play Pub with friends to enjoy spirits and live music. We stayed quite a while that evening watching an NBA playoff game and enjoying time with our new BRBS gang at the Pub.

Roan Mountain, Back of the Dragon

Sunday morning, we ate a light breakfast, packed and prepared to leave to head to Roan Mountain once again as we enjoyed the roads so much on Friday's drive. We stopped for lunch at a local seafood restaurant and had a tasty seafood boil and then a special Berry Cinnabon style desert. Non-stop twisty back roads eventually led us to Back of the Dragon, which seemed to be 90% motorcyclists, in particular Adventure bikes. The road itself was extremely tight with a ton of switchbacks as we mostly kept the Boxster S in 2nd gear. I wasn't even sure where we were or were going until I passed a cop about a mile before the Dragon Brewery Store, which was where I was hoping to end up.

Back of the Dragon

Getting a photo in front of the famous Dragon was easy and we saw another trooper scouting across the street...when we left, he was a block away with someone pulled over. It was late afternoon, and we jumped on I-81 to try and make it home before dark, later I would discover a nail in my rear driver's side tire too.

Conclusion

The Blue Ridge Boxster Summit stands as a testament to the enduring appeal of the open road and the camaraderie that grows from shared enthusiasm. It is a celebration of automotive artistry, natural wonder, and human connection—all set in one of America's most breathtaking regions. For those who seek adventure, friendship, and the pure joy of driving, the BRBS is more than an event, it is an invitation to be part of something truly special without the overwhelming nature of larger similar events.

BRBS 2026 is tentatively scheduled for May 28-31, 2026, again at the wonderful Little Switzerland Inn in North Carolina. <https://brbs.org/>

MUSIK-STADT BEECH PARTY! OCTOBER 11, 2025

Fall is here but Musik Stadt is going to a Beech Party! Join your Porsche friends as we fire up the air cooled, water cooled and just plain cool Porsches and head to Tullahoma for a great day at the Beechcraft Heritage Museum for this annual celebration of Beechcraft planes. No twisty's on this drive, just a backroads tour so we can spend more time at the museum.

In addition to seeing some really cool airplanes inside and outside of their museum, they will have food trucks for lunch. or there is an off-site restaurant nearby if you choose. Beechcraft owners fly in from around the US every year for this celebration of their planes, and yes there will be some stagger-wings taking off and landing.

Tour will depart from Cracker Barrel, Franklin Commons (Hwy 96 & I-65) after safety briefing at 8:30am, and will pass through Shelbyville on our way to Tullahoma. No pit stop due to less than 1-1/2 hr drive so we should arrive about 10am and be greeted by staff who will direct us to parking area. Cost to tour Beechcraft Heritage Museum is $30 per person, which Mike Moody will collect at Cracker Barrel. Upon arrival, please gather for a group photo while Mike goes inside to pick up your badge. After that, you are free to roam the airfield and take pictures and watch the planes fly in & take off, and the badge will get you into all the museum buildings to see their airplane collection.

Whiskey Trail Restaurant is just down the road, or Chick fil A will be on-site serving lunch. Leave at your convenience, but don't forget the Moai statues close by at 103 Marbury Road, carved by a local with memories of Easter Island. Make reservations to drives.mskpca@gmail.com after Oct 1.

Mike Moody,

Join us October 18 from 9-11am for a special Porsche Cars & Coffee at a new venue in south Franklin. Monarch Showroom is a private collection of exotic automobiles, many of which are for sale and they also buy special cars for their collection or for resale. Their collection includes German, Italian exotics and even classic American cars, including a 1923 Stutz Bearcat. Join us for coffee and donuts and enjoy a special morning. We invite owners of historic/classic air-cooled Porsches to show up at 8am to display your cars in the middle of the showroom for a mini-Luftgekühlt, so let me know if you can bring your 356 Speedsters, Emory or pristine 356, or air-cooled 911 Singer, turbo, wide-body or early pristine beauty (904, 918 Spyder, Carrera GT, 962c welcome). In order to plan for the event, please email drives.mskpca@gmail.com to let us know if you plan to attend, and if you are bringing an air-cooled 356, 912, or 911 for display. Hope you can join us!

Stuttgart Market Letter

by David K. Whitlock

July kept pace with June's strong performance, matching its 74% sell-through rate while coming in just shy of dollar volume at $38,101,964 from 635 Porsches offered. That is a healthy increase from July 2024's 66% and $30.5 million, showing the market's resilience even as certain segments cooled. This was a month where rare and limited editions took center stage, with cars we have not seen in some time crossing the block including a Black GT3 RS 4.0, multiple 911 S/Ts and Sport Classics, and a unique one-of-one 993. While these headliners drew plenty of attention, the seven-figure market told a different story as several high-profile million-dollar contenders failed to find new homes.

It only took a little over a month for another GT3 RS 4.0 to clear the million-dollar mark, and this one came with an even rarer twist. Finished in Black, a color not seen at auction for this model since a 1,000-mile example sold for $885,000 back in August 2022, this 842-mile 2011 car looked every bit the collector-grade example it was. Expectations were high after a low-mileage White RS 4.0 crossed $1 million earlier in May, and the market responded accordingly. It landed squarely within its $1 to $1.3 million estimate, selling at $1,260,000. With this sale, RS 4.0s are now firmly established as million-dollar modern 911s.

We ended June with the sale of a 911 S/T at a new auction record of $805,992, and July wasted no time in bringing more to market. Three more examples crossed the block, but not all met seller expectations. The first two failed to sell at final bids of $700,000 and $726,000, likely held back by hopes of replicating June's record result. The third proved to be the charm, a 130-mile Shore Blue Metallic example that hammered sold at $702,000.

It was not just S/Ts making headlines. Two 992 Sport Classics also found new homes. A standard-spec, 258-mile car sold for $473,000, while the other, a Paint-to-Sample Dolphin Gray over Black and Pepita Heritage Design example, stole the spotlight. With just 2,800 miles, body-color Sport Classic wheels, a Burmester sound system, and an MSRP of $311,000, it returned to the block after previously selling for $483,500 at Broad Arrow's Amelia Island sale in March. This time, it surged past that mark to $550,000, making it the third-highest Sport Classic auction result to date.

If there were an award for the rarest Porsche to hit the market in 2025, this 1996 911 Carrera Coupe 6-speed would be a front-runner. Built by Porsche Exclusive as a pre-production Carrera S press vehicle, it featured a collection of one-off touches rarely, if ever, seen together. These included Turbo-style front and rear spoilers on a narrow-bodied car, Turbo S front and side intakes, and Porsche's X51 power kit. It sold for $275,000, a price that felt entirely justified for something this unique, and in doing so set a new all-time auction record for a 993 Carrera Coupe.

The 356 market was active in July, with 25 cars crossing the block for a total dollar volume of $1,837,212, though the sell-through rate was a modest 60%. One standout was a 1957 356A Speedster that broke through a ceiling we have seen hold firm this year. Until now, only one 356A Speedster had crossed the $300,000 mark in 2025 despite nearly a dozen examples coming to auction. Finished in Black over Tan, this car sold for $325,000, besting its $300,000 high estimate. While it did feature a replacement engine, the unit had been rebuilt during a 2023 refurbishment, with the seller providing detailed photos of the work. In this case, great condition and thorough documentation carried the day.

While July offered some truly special sales, the upper end of the market also had its share of notable no-sales. Leading the list was a 2015 918 Spyder finished in Paint-to-Sample Grey Black over a striking Leather-to-Sample White interior. Showing 5,000 miles, it carried $7,000 in Custom Tailoring but lacked the desirable Weissach Package that often commands a premium. The last non-Weissach 918 to sell was an 887-mile example that brought $2,315,000 all-in at Amelia Island this past March. This one came close, but ultimately fell short, failing to sell at a final bid of $2,305,918. Also failing to find a home was a 911 Speedster by Gunther Werks, which stalled at $959,911 despite a recent run of million-dollar-plus results for other Gunther Werks builds.

With sales holding strong over the last few months, the stage is set for an exciting Monterey Car Week. The combination of rare, high-quality consignments and a market that continues to show resilience suggests we could see some standout results when the gavel falls in August.
