Porsche – Musik-Stadt – Solid Gold – Column – 2025-10

From the Driver's Seat
David Thomas, President

Greetings, and Happy Thanksgiving! Our annual Thanksgiving Food Drive, so ably planned and led by our awesome dealer liaison, Michael Smith, is in full swing at Porsche of Nashville and will run through Monday, November 24th. As of November 18th, our generous members have filled eleven boxes full of help for those in need. I personally had a great time going to the Aldi near the dealership and filling up the 911's trunk with canned goods, peanut butter, and the like. Michael said, "We have just one week left, and it would be amazing to fill four more boxes before the deadline. If we can do that we'll finish strong and help even more families this season. Every donation – big or small – makes a real difference.

Let's keep the momentum going and close out the drive with a win!" I couldn't agree more!

Save the Date for our annual Musik-Stadt Banquet on Saturday, January 24th, 2026. While we've had great experiences at Brentwood Country Club, our board has heard membership saying that we need a larger venue to accommodate more guests than the one hundred which BCC can support. Our amazing Events chair, Valerie Gillespie, by her leadership and hard work has made that happen! Old Natchez Country Club in Franklin will host our 2026 banquet, allowing us to accommodate up to two hundred guests, and we will have the same sit-down dinner format with the traditional choice among three entrees.

Stay tuned for more details!
 Save the Date also for the 2026 Concours
 d'Musik-Stadt on Saturday, May 23rd, 2026. We are fortunate to be invited back to 111 Motorcars, which is such a wonderful venue for this event. A big thank-you to One Eleven president Jeremy Scates for his exceptional generosity and support of our club!

My sincere hope is that your Thanksgiving season will be full of family, fun, and gratitude! And please be safe out there!

A Nice Morning Drive

Well, it's that time again. Time to get the newsletter out. I could write a small novella about everything that has happened since the last newsletter; such as having my knee give out and preparing for (eventual) surgery, to put down another one of our fur-babies. But, no one reads the newsletter to hear all that drivel.

One thing that has changed is that I'm asking that all submissions to the newsletter have the subject line read, "For the newsletter" so I don't miss any of your fine submissions. One thing that really makes this newsletter special are the contributions from our membership!

With that, we have another great newsletter for you. So, enjoy!

Stuttgart Market Letter

by David K. Whitlock

October 2025 marked the highest unit volume on record since I began tracking the market, with 785 Porsches crossing the block. Of those, 70% found new homes for a total of $52,007,037 in sales. That's up from September's $44m, and well ahead of last October's $36m. The 991 GT2 RS market continued to impress, with earlier GT2s following suit. We also saw the first 2024 911 GT3 R Rennsport hit the block, a headline event in itself, while a celebrity-owned 911S drew plenty of attention with its final number. Rounding things out, there was a noticeable surge in 914 listings across multiple auction houses.

Following last month's incredible results, the GT2 market continued to surprise. A 9,000-mile 991 GT2 RS finished in Paint-to-Sample Yachting Blue Metallic sold for $528,000, an astounding result considering that price typically belongs to sub-500-mile examples. Sure, it was PTS, but no other car with similar mileage, PTS or not, has come close. We also saw a new all-time high for a 997.1 GT2, with a Guards Red example showing just 1,400 miles on the odometer selling for $417,000, eclipsing our previous record from December 2023 despite that car's more extensive Exclusive options list.

Unveiled at Rennsport Reunion VII, the 911 GT3 R Rennsport represents Porsche's most extreme track-only creation to date, and this month we saw the first one cross the block. Number 26 of just 77 built, it showed only 33 km and was finished in exposed carbon-fiber-composite bodywork with Agate Gray Metallic roof pillars. Still "in the wrapper," it included its original lockable tool chest and documentation portfolio. With Porsche listing the base MSRP around $1,046,000, the final bid of $1,201,000 was probably close, maybe even slightly under its original MSRP. While not a breakout result, it likely reflects the car's limited use case, as few buyers are eager to spend seven figures on something that can't be driven on the street.

The biggest headline of the month came from a celebrity-owned 911S. This RUF-modified 1971 911S Coupe built for Jerry Seinfeld sold for an astonishing $657,000, more than double the highest bid we've seen for a modified LWB 911 in the last five years. Refinished in its original Gemini Blue Metallic, it featured flared arches, RUF Bilstein suspension, 930 brakes, and 15-inch Fuchs wheels. Power came from a 3.4-liter flat-six paired with a custom 6-speed transaxle and topped with RUF-branded hardware throughout. Beautifully built, unquestionably special, but $657,000 for a modified LWB 911? That's rare air.

The 914 market was unusually busy this month, with 21 cars crossing the block and 15 finding new homes. A handful of 914/6s were among them, though none performed particularly well. It wasn't long ago that six-figure sales were the norm for genuine 914/6s, but over the past twelve months, they've averaged just $68,700, with only one example breaking the $100k mark. Every 914/6 sold in October landed below that average. The high sale for the segment went to a modified 1974 914 fitted with a 3.2-liter flat-six from an '89 911. Finished in Red with GT-style flares, it brought $95,000, a strong result for a well-executed conversion.

Typically, September and October are quieter months, but this year has been anything but. Both months delivered record numbers and surprising strength across multiple segments, signaling renewed confidence in the market as we head toward year-end. With two months still to go, 2025 has already surpassed 2024's total dollar volume. If this momentum holds, we could be looking at one of the strongest years on record for the Porsche auction market.
